Editorial: The Korske Ara Amrita is an arcane title for a journal for owners of websites, detailing their experiences with hosts of websites. This journal could be subtitled, “Website owners' issues with website hosts”. As an alternative title, that would have been so boring. This title will become esoteric knowledge for denizens of the Internet, [a bit like whirlpool]. It will enter the English lexicon as a cliché for a particular type of action. We will explain the title in the next issue. Notwithstanding Google, the internet by its nature is ephemeral. Accordingly, our print publications are intended to add a degree of permanence and eternity to our publications.

So, Korske Ara Amrita is primarily a print journal with legal deposit obligations to be deposited in the National Library of Australia in Canberra and the State Library of Queensland and Queensland Parliamentary Library, and so be catalogued accordingly. Additionally, it will be available archived on our website [<http://AustLawPublish.com/>] as a .pdf file identical to the printed version. Thus, it will be more readily available to the whole community, being also indexed/catalogued by google and other search engines. Some libraries may actually “mirror” our site and hold a copy of each of our publications on their server. We intend to archive all our publications on this site.

In future editions, we will entertain submissions from readers, and even on occasions invite honorary Guest Editors, with “By Lines” for contributors and guest editors. Our website, <http://haigreport.com> will contain more informations and features than just the archives of our print publications.
